

Introducing Emmanuel

Emmanuel Nkumba Umpula is currently working as an intern at RAID and studying English in Oxford. He is a senior researcher for the Congolese NGO Action Against Impunity for Human Rights (ACIDH), which is based in Lubumbashi, Katanga. ACIDH focuses on corporate accountability in development, labour rights, health and environmental justice. Over the past four years, ACIDH and RAID have collaborated on several projects.

Emmanuel's stay in the UK has provided him with the chance to meet a number of other NGOs, including Global Witness. As well as developing his research skills, Emmanuel has been on cultural visits to London and as a keen football supporter he enjoyed seeing Oxford United in action! Emmanuel's stay in Oxford is the first of a series of exchanges planned as part of a capacity-building programme between RAID and Congolese NGOs.